The overall sky & key insights

The shared-sky overview restores the overall theme, actual Moon phase, key insights and Moon changes for the chosen day.

It shows the tropical zodiac snapshot at noon in the selected timezone. The nightly constellation positions are separate astronomical calculations.

Four expandable life-area summaries remain below.

Key sights tonight

Tap Use my location for an optional foreground location request, or select a city/manual coordinates in Change date or place. No launch prompt or background tracking is added.

Choose the observing time to recalculate the Moon, planets and constellation landmarks. Pleiades/Aldebaran show angular distance from the Moon and horizon positions.

Current location stays session-only and never replaces birthplace. Weather, terrain, light pollution, twilight and Moon glare affect visibility.

The Moon-phase strip uses calculated local-noon phases. Choose a day to update the shared sky and daily horoscope. The Moon shape changes with the Sun-Moon angle.

Expand a planet to see its seven-day zodiac path and meaning. Retrograde marks apparent backward motion from Earth; a planet does not reverse its orbit.

Daily samples use the selected timezone. Each path has its own vertical scale. Moon orientation is illustrative.

Follow a placement's story

The Moon row keeps Chandra's imagery, emotional themes, birth star and pada. Sun and Lagna retain their own personal D1 explanations.

The selected D1 or D9 division controls the position and house shown in the table. Birth themes, motion and nakshatra refer to the original D1 positions.

Unknown times withhold Lagna and houses. Moon, nakshatra, pada and derived D9 coordinates are approximate and may change across the birth date.

Daily, Past and Future summarise Career, Money, Love and Major life decisions. Open an area to read it.

Today in the Stars uses the same headings for general sky context, without personal birth details. My Daily Insights combines your personal guidance with the journal.

Future covers the remaining start year plus the next two full calendar years, with explicit dates. It is not three full rolling years.

Change a reading year

Numerology shows the selected Personal Year number and theme. Previous/Next year changes the cycle and matching area summaries. Life Path, birthday and name numbers stay fixed.

Chinese Past/Future changes the animal, element and actual lunar-year dates, with context for your birth animal. Chinese New Year boundaries are respected.

These are the existing annual/monthly number and lunar-year traditions. No Personal Day calculation or full BaZi prediction is added.

Restoring replaces the profiles and notes already saved on this device. It does not merge them.

Delete a profile without deleting its notes

Delete [name] is separate from everyday saving controls. Confirm only when you want to remove that person's saved birth details.

The displayed reading clears after deletion. Choose another saved person or add a new one to continue.

Journal notes are kept under the original identity. Select that journal after choosing another reading to read/export them; individual note deletion is a separate action. A removed profile can be restored from a backup.

Privacy, limits and first-use checks

Core calculations are local. Android bundles its assets for first-launch offline use. The website caches after a successful first online visit; wait for Offline assets ready. External reference sites still need internet. Offline caching is not a backup.

Nothing automatically uploads your birth details or journal to Google Drive or an AI service. File exports are explicit; your device may offer cloud destinations. Keep private files under your control.

Astrology and numerology are symbolic traditions, not scientifically established ways to predict events or assess personality. Western date contacts are sampled at the stated time, not exact event prediction. Vedic uses Lahiri D1/D9 without dashas. Chinese uses lunar-year symbolism. Numerology retains Personal Year/Month.

After installing the update

- Confirm the expected saved person reopens and the active name is correct.
- Switch between two fictional profiles and confirm their notes stay separate.
- Save a synthetic journal note, close/reopen the app and read it again.
- Export a PDF and app backup to a chosen destination; keep real backups before destructive changes.
- Try the summary headings, year controls and expanded Kundli details on the actual phone.

These checks protect your data and verify physical-device behavior. Local browser/signed-bundle checks do not replace them.
